

PSYCHOANALYTIC PERSPECTIVES
A Journal of Integration and Innovation

Volume 2

SPRING/SUMMER 2005

Number 2

COMMENTARY

- Letters to the Editors 1
Susan Bodnar, Ph.D.
- Commentary on Roundtable: "Is Psychoanalysis the Last Taboo in Psychoanalysis?" 3
Lynne Layton, Ph.D.

INTERVIEW

- Meeting Lew Aron's Mind: An Interview 9
Beth Dorfman, L.C.S.W.

TRAUMA

- Introduction 27
Judith Becker Greenwald, L.C.S.W.

Discussions of "When the Trauma Is Terrorism and the Therapist Is Traumatized Too: Working as an Analyst Since 9/11," by Mary Gail Frawley-O'Dea, Ph.D.

- Who's Who and What to Do When Catastrophe Strikes:
Considerations for Psychoanalysis in Post-9/11 America 29
Elizabeth Goren, Ph.D.

- Did 9/11 Change Everything? Terrorism and Its Challenges to the Psychoanalyst 51
Michael D. Clifford, M.Div., L.C.S.W.

- 9/11: What Do We Call It? How Do We Work with It? Response to Elizabeth Goren and Michael Clifford 67
Mary Gail Frawley-O'Dea, Ph.D.

INTERSUBJECTIVITY

- From the Crumbs of a Cookie: The Poetics of the Subjective in the Therapeutic Encounter 75
Ionas Sapountzis, Ph.D.

CREATIVE LITERARY ARTS

- A Note from the Creative Literary Editor 93
Bonnie Zindel, L.C.S.W.

FICTION
The Day of Michelangelo	95
Bonnie Zindel, L.C.S.W.
POETRY
My Body Grew on Me	105
Esther Hanoch, Ph.D., L.C.S.W.
BOOK REVIEW
Playing Hard at Life: A Relational Approach to Treating Multiply Traumatized Adolescents	107
by ETTY COHEN
Reviewed by Elizabeth K. Krimendahl, Psy.D.
ABOUT N.I.P.T.I.	113